Springfield, Sept 30—President Hayes [illegible] arrived this morning at 6 o clock [illegible] met at the depot by Gov Cullom and the local reception committee and escorted to the executive mansion where they took breakfast and rested until 10 o clock. At that hour a procession was formed of a military escort, Veteran Soldiers' Association, Prison War Association, colored citizens [illegible] of the State Board of Agriculture, [illegible] city council in carriages and the party to the state house where children of the public schools were assembled on the east front, and as the party [illegible] the steps, sang the hymn America. Arriving at the top of the steps, Gov Cullom called the meeting to order and introduced J C Conkling, who delivered an address of welcome on the part of the state and was followed by Mayor Maguire on the part of the city, and Rev Robert [illegible] on behalf of the school children. [illegible] Hayes responded briefly and feelingly, alluding to the impression produced on him by this his first visit to the home of Lincoln and Douglas.

THE ENGLISH GRAIN MARKET

Comments by the Mark Lane Express.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

LONDON Sept 30—The Mark Lane Express says that the condition of new grain has not improved to any appreciable extent. Threshing has made but little progress, as most of the grain already secured is in an unfit state and some weeks must elapse before offerings of new wheat will show any material increase. It is pretty generally admitted that the wheat crop of the present year will be about 30 per cent below the average. Home requirements between now and next harvest may be expected to absorb sixteen or seventeen million quarters of foreign produce. Neither mangles nor Swedes can be the average crops and the turnip crop generally presents a wretched appearance. Potatoes in many localities are not worth the expense of lifting

Oat fields in Scotland are still green and night frosts have prevented barley from filling out while cool dry weather is urgently needed to check the spread of the potato disease.

From South Ireland rather favorable reports are received as to the oat crop which it appears has suffered less than any other cereal both in the United Kingdom and on the continent

Supplies of home grown wheat at the country markets have again been exceedingly light, last week's deliveries at 150 principal towns showing a decrease of over 17 000 quarters as compared with the corresponding week of last year. The average price was 4 pence a quarter less than the preceding week, which is of much significance as regards defective quality offerings, when a strong upward turn in prices are taken into consideration. Samples shown at Mark Lane were likewise few and inferior although reserves of last year's crop are at the lowest ebb. Sales have been made mainly at an advance of 3 shillings a quarter on the week white wheat realizing from 50 to 52 shillings and red from 46 to 49 per quarter

Imports of foreign wheat into London have been very moderate since last Friday returns showing only 36 7 0 quarters and the week's trade has been marked by a degree of animation and even excitement which was not altogether expected. The most sanguine operator could scarcely have foreseen the extent and suddenness of the upward movement. The improvement has been daily on some days, indeed, even to an extent which allowed the same parcel of wheat to change hands twice at a respectable profit in exchanges. Such activity has not been seen at Mark Lane since the spring of 1877

All descriptions of foreign wheat improved fully two shillings per quarter making a total advance of about seven shillings from the recent lowest point. The cause of the rise has been present for some weeks past, but the effect has been delayed until recently, as millers hung back as long as there was any possibility of the home crop turning out more favorably than had been predicted. Such possibility no longer exists and the fact suddenly forced itself upon the minds of buyers with the result recorded as above.

The amount of business done in wheat and maize in all positions has been exceptionally heavy and the slight reaction which took place during the middle of the week has been more than recovered. Nearly all descriptions of cereal produce shared in the upward movement, maize to the extent of four shillings per quarter, barley and oats sixpence and beans one shilling. During the early part of the week the trade for wheat off coast ruled very strong, and the advance was considerable. On Thursday a reaction ensued which was brief as trade speedily recovered and it closed firm at the end of the week at the highest point yet touched, say from two to three shillings per quarter advance on the week. Maize participated in the improvement of prices rising sixpence per quarter. There has been a very large business done in forward wheat principally Californian and red winter American, for both of which quotations indicate an advance of fully three shillings per quarter. Maize and barley are also in good request at sixpence advance

Sales of English wheat last week 14 186 quarters at 41s 5d against 70 791 quarters at 41s 5d last year. Imports into the United Kingdom for the week ending Sept 20th 1 603 731 centals of wheat and 208 712 centals of flour

GRADES OF MINNESOTA WHEAT

The legislature of Minnesota has conferred on the farmers' board of trade of that state the power of establishing grades of wheat. Grades are changed somewhat each year, or are liable to be changed in order to meet the peculiar conditions of each year's crop. It has been a fault that Oregon and Washington wheat has never been properly graded. The time is at hand when proper regulations therefor should be made. We give the following relating to grades of Minnesota wheat established for the present crop. Such classification probably would not answer here as our wheat has conditions different from those of the wheat of Minnesota. But persons interested in the matter will nevertheless take note of this Minnesota classification

Our manufacturing and agricultural interests were fully represented and the improvement here made in the several departments were forcibly set forth by the elegant array of products placed upon exhibition

Will Get Even with the Railroads

Congressman Daggett of Nevada is developing a good deal of the humor of Mark Twain. And this reminds us that Mark first became famous as a wit while connected with the Enterprise now edited by Mr Daggett. On his return home from Washington Mr Daggett was fleeced—so he says—by the baggage masters all along the line and here is the way he proposes to get even on the railroad companies for the sharp practice of the baggage-masters. Said he to an interviewer:

You see I am entitled as a member of congress to six hundred volumes of agricultural reports two hundred surveys [illegible] and several thousand other heavy volumes [illegible] give one copy of the agricultural reports to Farmer Treadway [illegible] Professor [illegible] All the rest I need myself will secure the power patronage and official honors of a national democratic administration. If that hope fails next year and a united democracy is then beaten by a united north. I believe that the south will certainly divide after 1880 and before 1884. The political situation is to-day just like the military situation in 1865 when Grant was making his last movements on Richmond. A most the entire southern press then said that though they lost Richmond they would still fight on and die if need be in the last ditch. Grant knew better. He knew that when Richmond fell most of the confederate army would go home on their own account and that Lee must surrender the balance. He was right and with the fall of Richmond the war was practically ended. To-day the democratic leaders and the southern press say and doubtless they say honestly that even if beaten in 1880 for the presidency, they will remain an unbroken party permanently holding a united south on the issues of race and white rule. They are as much mistaken now as then. They may not surrender. But their party will crumble and new formations will come.

HOW THE SOLID SOUTH IS TO END

As the whites divide so will the blacks. For every brave white man who joins the progressive party of the future some worthless black will recruit the Bourbon party of the past. Men who believe in the nation, in free schools, in toleration and progress, will be voting together blacks and whites while men who cling to old prejudices, and had rather live in the graveyards of the past than in the work fields of to-day will be consulting and voting together. I believe, sir, that republican victory in 1880 will be followed by the defeat of the regular democratic state ticket in at least four of the old slave states before 1884. We are nearer the end of this solid south business than most republicans expect or most democrats will admit. The one thing needed is one more republican victory under a wise brave leader in 1880 and the solid south is forever broken

FOREIGN MISSIONS

The annual meeting of the American board for foreign missions at Syracuse N Y October 8 h brings before the public not only the progress and growing importance of missions. This is the parent foreign missionary society in this country dating back to 1810 and from it have come all the other flourishing organizations now carrying into foreign lands the principles and institutions of Christianity. This meeting always produces a deep impression and commands general attention. Ably managed and eminently successful all kindred societies regard it with filial feelings and take no ordinary interest in its annual gatherings. The last half of this century may be justly said to be the golden age in Protestant missions and the latter are the best proofs of the augmented vigor and increasing catholicity of the various branches of the Protestant Church. In 1820 there were but three foreign mission societies in this country now there are sixteen. There was then barely $100 000 raised annually now the yearly contributions amount to $[illegible]. In 1820 England had but [illegible] foreign mission organizations now she has twenty [illegible] Then she raised not quite $1 000 000 annually now she raises [illegible] yearly. THE PURPOSES OF JAY GOULD.

From the Chicago Tribune Sept 25

A Tribune reporter returned yesterday from the most reliable authority that Mr Gould has obtained control of the Hannibal and St Jo railroad and that the principal object of his trip is to inspect this new acquisition. The rumors that he has obtained control of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad are also confirmed and this explains why he is extending his pleasure trip to Colorado. It is also stated that he has also obtained a larger interest in the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific and that he will hereafter be able to control that splendid piece of property. Mr Gould called at the Rock Island office yesterday and was closeted with Hugh Riddle president of that road for some time. He was no doubt making arrangements for his pleasure trip over that road. The Hannibal and St Joe will be a most valuable acquisition to Gould as it gives the Wabash a direct outlet to Kansas City via Quincy and Hannibal and affords two direct connections from Missouri river points. Then, through the purchase of a controlling interest in the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific he secures another direct line from Chicago to the Missouri quadrilateral. Thus he will have all the feeders he wants for the Union and Kansas Pacific railroads, in the interest of which he has made the latest acquisitions. He will now have the Wabash and St Louis Kansas City and Northern to connect directly with both his Pacific roads at Kansas City and Omaha, both from Chicago and Toledo via St Louis and via Hannibal and Quincy. Then he has another direct route from Chicago to both to Kansas City and Omaha via the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific. It can therefore be seen that he has all the feeders for both his Pacific roads he wants, and he is now ready to crush out all competition he meets. It has long been known here that the Union Pacific is unfriendly to the Iowa pool, and that it means to have it broken up. This can now be readily done. It is the evident intention of Gould to give all the Pacific business to his own lines, and both the Northwestern and Burlington, controlled by Vanderbilt and the Boston syndicate respectively will be discriminated against as much as possible. These two roads are compelled to give their business to the Union Pacific anyway, whether at discriminates against them or not because Gould controls at present all the outlets to the Pacific and is therefore master of the situation. The only remedy to this Gould monopoly is the immediate construction of independent lines to the Pacific, but it will take some years to do this, and until then Mr Gould will be the supreme railroad king unless something unforeseen should happen in the meantime. The anxiety of Gould to have the old southwestern pool reorganized is no doubt for the purpose of gaining time until he is ready to commence active operations against rival lines. The railroad managers who are now in session at the Grand Pacific have not been made aware of Mr Gould's schemes and they will first learn of them through the Tribune this morning. When they get the matter well digested they will not be half so anxious in aiding Gould to carry out his plans successfully

The purchase by Mr Gould of the Denver and Rio Grande shows that he was at the bottom of the late difficulties between this road and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. It is said that Mr Gould furnished the money for that contest the road itself being hopelessly bankrupt. Mr Gould cannot get possession of this property, however, until suits now in the courts as to the validity of the lease with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe have been decided. Should the court decide the lease valid then the purchase of the property will do him no good and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe will again run it. But if the decision is against the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe then Gould will have another feeder to his Pacific roads, and be able to compete with the Atchison road for the Southern Colorado and New Mexico business, and it is more than likely that he will then extend the Rio Grande south to a connection with the Southern Pacific thus making the Kansas Pacific a competitor of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe for the Pacific business via the southern route

COL BOB INGERSOLL

WHAT HE SAYS OF HIS FEELING TOWARD THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

Col Ingersoll recently at Cincinnati was interviewed as to his feeling toward the republican party. In the course of the interview occur these passages

Rep—Then if I understand you rightly, you have not deserted the republican party but may again give it the help of your eloquent voice?

Mr I—He is not fighting the republican party and never has fought it

Col I—No if they will help me or help the cause of human rights I will help them with all my might. But as for political speaking I do not hanker after it. From 1868 until 1876 I took no part in politics whatever and did not intend again to make a political speech but was drawn by circumstances into the last presidential campaign

Rep—What do you think of Blaine now as a candidate for the next presidential contest. Will the success of the Maine election secure him the nomination?

Col I—I think that he ought to be nominated and I believe he can be elected

Rep—Do you think he could do any more in the way of enforcing the laws and maintaining the rights of white and colored republicans in the south than President Hayes has done

Col I—I think he would do as much as any man [illegible] the United States will adopt a platform upon which all liberals can stand. Mr Blaine and I do not agree [illegible] but I [illegible] views [illegible] law whatever the religious [illegible] I never [illegible] every right that he claims for [illegible]

LUM SING LOO'S MARRIAGE

A Rich Young Chinaman at Newark, N J, takes a Handsome Mexican Wife

From the New York Sun

Lum Sing Loo a young Chinaman said to be wealthy married a few days ago in Newark N J Miss Alice Dodd an American girl eighteen years old. A Methodist Episcopal clergyman officiated. Lum Sing Loo is about twenty seven years of age. He was born in Canton China where his father a merchant holds an influential position under the Chinese government. When he was fifteen years old Lum Sing Loo emigrated to California. He settled in San Francisco where his two uncles Chock Lan Loo and Chow Yan Loo were in business. He attended a public school for two years in order to learn to read write and speak the English language. Then he became a clerk in a Chinese drug store and after he learned the business he returned to China. His father gave him a large sum of money. After a brief stay in Canton he returned to San Francisco and opened a drug store. His venture was successful. In two years he became a member of the firm of Hop Lee & Co druggists in Dupont street and also of the firm of Hung Woo Sing & Co wholesale tea merchants in Jackson street. Eighteen months ago he rented the old Drummond property in Houston street Newark and converted it into a Chinese drug manufactory the only establishment of the kind east of California. He built a high board fence about the entire property, so as to keep out curious people. A score of his almond eyed countrymen all of whom wear blue cotton blouses and wool en shoes are employed in the establishment preparing drugs for shipment to China. The old men seldom venture out of the inclosed grounds but Lum Sing Loo frequently visited this city to purchase herbs. His uncle and partner Chock Lan Loo a very tall and swarthy man who superintended the drug factory returned to San Francisco three months ago. He was angry, it is said, because his nephew was too fond of the Melican gallee

Lum Sing Loo wears his hair cut short, and he patronizes a fashionable Newark tailor. He is slender and not above five feet five inches in height. He has pleasant features and intelligence and good nature sparkle in his bright black eyes. Soon after he opened his factory he permitted several parties of young ladies to inspect his parlor and other rooms but he would not allow anybody to enter the manufactory. He gave tea parties to a few female Christian acquaintances. Among his visitors was Miss Alice Dodd, whose widowed mother lives in East Kinney street and she captured his susceptible heart on sight. Lum Sing Loo's attentions to Miss Dodd soon became so marked that the gossips began to comment upon it. Instead of eating with his workmen, he thereafter took his meals at Miss Dodd's home. He made her presents of costly jewelry, and bought her a gold watch and chain last Christmas. Diamonds always sparkle in Lum Sing Loo's shirt bosom, and he carries a gold-tipped ebony cane. A few weeks ago he rented a three story residence at No 261 Lafayette street, which he furnished richly, and then he told some of his female acquaintances that he was to be married. His associates are principally American, and he seldom mingles with his countrymen in Newark

"Mr Loo is a real nice little man," said a young lady who was seated in the bay window of a French roof cottage in Lafayette street, Newark, yesterday to a reporter of the Sun "and all of us girls down here had set our caps for him. We liked his tea parties and his presents, but we liked his company the best. He's got lots of money, and he used to spend it on the girls, too. Ain't it too bad that Allie Dodd cut us all out? He used to escort us to the Methodist chapel in Houston street treat to ice cream and soda, and his pretty pigeon English is just too sweet for anything."

Mrs Loo is about the medium height. Her black hair yesterday was wound in a large coil on the back of her head, where it was fastened with gold-headed pins and comb. Her features are regular and her eyes large and dark blue. She said to the reporter:

We kept the engagement quiet because we didn't want everybody talking about it. Loo's people were pleased when they heard he was to marry me. He fitted the house up elegantly and he was so considerate for my religion that he did not hang any Chinese pictures or characters in any of the rooms. A week ago last Thursday we were married by the Rev Mr Van Duyne, a Methodist Episcopal minister, who preaches in the Houston-street chapel. We were married at his house in Eighth avenue and my mother and sister-in law were the witnesses.

Mrs Loo's wedding present from her husband was a set of gold jewelry, with pearl ornaments. As the reporter was saying good-bye, she remarked "Some of the girls who laugh at me and affect to ridicule my marriage to Loo may get a worse husband. He never swears, does not drink strong liquors nor gamble and is never cross"

Princeton college promises to have a most successful year. One hundred and twenty-five men have been admitted to the freshman class and the other classes are proportionately large. On opening day President McCosh cautioned the students against hazing

Comments by the Mark Lane Express

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

London Sept 30.—The Mark Lane Express says that the condition of new grain has not improved to any appreciable extent. Threshing has made but little progress as most of the grain already secured is in an unfit state and some weeks must elapse before offerings of new wheat will show any material increase It is pretty generally admitted that the wheat crop of the present year will be about 30 per cent below the average Home requirements between now and next harvest may be expected to absorb sixteen or seventeen million quarters of foreign produce Neither mangles nor Swedes can be the average crops and the turnip crop generally presents a wretched appearance. Potatoes in many localities are not worth the expense of lifting

Oat fields in Scotland are still green, and night frosts have prevented barley from filling out while cool dry weather is urgently needed to check the spread of the potato disease

From South Ireland rather favorable reports are received as to the oat crop which it appears has suffered less than any other cereal both in the United Kingdom and on the continent

Supplies of home grown wheat at the country markets have again been exceedingly light last week's deliveries at 150 principal towns showing a decrease of over [illegible] quarters as compared with the corresponding week of last year The average price was 4 pence a quarter less than the preceding week which is of much significance as regards defective quality offerings when a strong upward turn in prices are taken into consideration Samples shown at Mark Lane were likewise few and interior although reserves of last year's crop are at the lowest ebb Sales have been made mainly at an advance of 2 shillings a quarter on the week white wheat realizing from 50 to 5[illegible] shillings and red from 4[illegible] to 49 per quarter

Imports of foreign wheat into London have been very moderate since last Friday returns showing only [illegible] quarters and the week's trade has been marked by a degree of animation and even excitement which was not altogether expected The most sanguine operator could scarcely have foreseen the extent and suddenness of the upward movement The improvement has been daily on some days indeed even to an extent which allowed the same parcel of wheat to change hands twice at a respectable profit in exchanges Such activity has not been seen at Mark Lane since the spring of 1877

All descriptions of foreign wheat improved fully two shillings per quarter making a total advance of about seven shillings from the recent lowest point. The cause of the rise has been present for some weeks past but the effect has been delayed until recently as millers hung back as long as there was any possibility of the home crop turning out more favorably than had been predicted Such possibility no longer exists and the fact suddenly forced itself upon the minds of buyers with the result recorded as above

The amount of business done in wheat and maize in all positions has been exceptionally heavy and the slight reaction which took place during the middle of the week has been more than recovered Nearly all descriptions of cereal produce shared in the upward movement maize to the extent of fourshillings per quarter barley and oats sixpence and beans one shilling During the early part of the week the trade for wheat off coast ruled very strong and the advance was considerable On Thursday a reaction ensued which was brief as trade speedily recovered and it closed firm at the end of the week at the highest point yet touched say from two to three shillings per quarter advance on the week Maize participated in the improvement of prices rising sixpence per quarter There has been a very large business done in forward wheat principally Californian and red winter American forth [illegible] quotations indicate an advance of fully three shillings per quarter Maize and barley are also in good request at sixpence advance

Sales of English wheat last week [illegible] quarters at [illegible] against [illegible] quarters at [illegible] last year Imports into the United Kingdom for the week ending Sept [illegible] centals of wheat and [illegible] centals of flour

The legislature of Minnesota has conferred on the farmers board of trade of that state the power of establishing grades of wheat Grades are changed somewhat each year or are able to be changed, in order to meet the peculiar conditions of each year's crop It has been a fault that Oregon and Washington wheat has never been properly graded The time is at hand when proper regulations therefore should be made We give the following [illegible] grades of Minnesota wheat established [illegible] classification [illegible] would not answer here as our wheat [illegible] of the wheat of Minnesota But [illegible] interested in the matter will nevertheless take note of this Minnesota class[illegible]

HOW THE SOLID SOUTH IS TO END

[illegible]

[illegible] that the [illegible] he knew that when [illegible] fell the federal army would go forth and the rebellion would end [illegible] that [illegible] surrender the balance [illegible] was right and with the fall of Richmond the war was practically ended To day the democratic leaders in the southern [illegible] say and doubtless they say honestly that even if beaten in 1880 for the presidency they will remain an unbroken party permanently holding a united south on the issue of race and white rule They are as much mistaken now as they [illegible] may not surrender But their party will crumble and new formations will come

As the waters divide so will the [illegible] For every brave white man who joins the progressive party of the future some worthless black will recruit the Bourbon party of the past Men who believe in the nation in free schools in toleration and progress will be voting together blacks and whites while men who cling to old prejudices and had rather live in the graveyards of the past than in the work fields of to day will be consulting and voting together I believe, sir that republican victory in 1880 will be followed by the defeat of the regular democratic state ticket in at least four of the old slave states before 1884. We are nearer the end of this solid south business than most republicans expect or most democrats will admit The one thing needed is one more republican victory under a wise brave leader in 1880, and the solid south is forever broken

THE PURPOSES OF JAY GOULD

[illegible] Sept [illegible]

A [illegible] reporter learned yesterday from the most reliable authority that Mr Gould has control of the Hannibal and St Joe Iron [illegible] principal object of [illegible] The Denver and Rio Grande railroad are also confirmed and this explains why he is extending his [illegible] trip to Colorado. It is also said that he has also obtained a larger interest in the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific [illegible] and that he will hereafter be able to control that [illegible] piece of property Mr [illegible] called at the Rock Island office yesterday and was closeted with Hugh Riddle president of that road for some time He was no doubt making arrangements for his [illegible] trip over that road The Hannibal and St Joe will be a most valuable acquisition to Gould as it gives the Wabash a direct outlet to Kansas City via Quincy and Hannibal and affords two direct connections from Missouri river points Then through the purchase of a controlling interest in the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific he secures another direct line from Chicago to the Missouri quadrilateral Thus he will have all the [illegible] he wants for the Union and Kansas Pacific railroads in the interest of which he has made the latest acquisitions He will now have the Wabash and St Louis Kansas City and Northern to connect directly with both his Pacific roads at Kansas City and Omaha both from Chicago and Toledo via St Louis and via Hannibal and Quincy Then he has another direct route from Chicago both to Kansas City and Omaha via the Chicago Rock Island Pacific It can therefore be seen that he has all the feeders for both his Pacific roads he wants and he is now ready to crush out all competition he meets It has long been known here that the Union Pacific is unfriendly to the Iowa pool and that it means to have it broken up This can now be easily done It is the evident intention of Gould to give all the Pacific business to his own lines and both the Northwestern and Burlington controlled by Vanderbilt and the Boston syndicate respectively will be discriminated against as much as possible These two roads are compelled to give their business to the Union Pacific anyway whether it discriminates against them or not because Gould controls at present all the outlets to the Pacific and is therefore master of the situation The only remedy to this Gould monopoly is the immediate construction of independent lines to the Pacific but it will take some years to do this and until then Mr Gould will be the supreme railroad king unless something unforeseen should happen in the meantime The anxiety of Gould to have the old southwestern pool reorganized is no doubt for the purpose of gaining time until he is ready to commence active operations against rival lines The railroad managers who are now in session at the Grand Pacific have not been made aware of Mr Gould's schemes and they will first learn of them through the Tribune this morning When they get the matter well digested they will not be half so anxious in aiding Gould to carry out his plans successfully

The purchase by Mr Gould of the Denver and Rio Grande shows that he was at the bottom of the late difficulties between this road and the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe It is said that Mr Gould furnished the money for that contest the road itself being hopelessly bankrupt Mr Gould cannot get possession of this property, however until suits now in the courts as to the validity of the lease with the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe have been decided Should the courts decide the lease valid then the purchase of the property will come [illegible] good and the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe will again [illegible] But if the decision is against the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe then Gould will have another feeder to his Pacific roads and be able to compete with the Atchison road to the Southern Colorado and New Mexico business and it is more than likely that he will then extend the Rio Grande south to a connection with the Southern Pacific thus making the Kansas Pacific a competitor of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe for the Pacific business via the southern route

A Rich Young Chinaman at Newark N J takes a Handsome Melican Wife

[illegible] Lum Sing Loo [illegible] married [illegible] a few days ago New[illegible] eighteen years [illegible] clergyman [illegible] Lum Sing Loo is about twenty [illegible] years [illegible] He was born in Canton [illegible] where his father a merchant holds an [illegible] position under the [illegible] government When he was fifteen years [illegible] he came to California [illegible] He [illegible] at San Francisco [illegible] with his two uncles [illegible] and in a public school [illegible] years [illegible] grammar [illegible] English language [illegible] Hatchberg [illegible] After a brief stay in Canton he returned to San Francisco and opened a drug store His venture was successful In two years he became a member of the firm of [illegible] druggists, on Dupont street and also of the firm of Hing Wo [illegible] wholesale merchants on Jackson street Eighteen months ago he rented the [illegible] property in Houston street Newark and converted it into a Chinese drug manufactory the only establishment of the kind east of California He built a high board fence about the entire property to keep out curious people A score of his countrymen [illegible] all of whom wear the cotton blouses and wooden shoes are employed in the establishment preparing drugs for [illegible] to China These men seldom venture out of the [illegible] Lum Sing Loo frequently visited this city to purchase herbs His uncle and partner Chon [illegible] a very tall and swarthy man who superintended the drug factory retired to San Francisco three months ago He was angry it is said because his nephew was too fond of the Melican gallee

Lum Sing Loo wears his hair cut short and he patronizes a fashionable Newark tailor He is slender and not above five feet five inches in height He has pleasant features and intelligence and good nature sparkle in his bright black eyes Soon after he opened his factory he permitted several parties of young ladies to inspect his parlor and other rooms but he would not allow anybody to enter the manufactory He gave tea parties to a few female Christian acquaintances Among his visitors was Miss Alice Dodd whose widowed mother lives in East Kinney street, and she captured his susceptible heart on sight Lum Sing Loo's attentions to Miss Dodd soon became so marked that the gossips began to comment upon it Instead of eating with his workmen he thereafter took his meals at Miss Dodd's home He made her presents of costly jewelry and bought her a gold watch and chain last Christmas Diamonds always sparkle in Lum Sing Loo's shirt bosom and he carries a gold tipped ebony cane A few weeks ago he rented a three story residence at No 261 Lafayette street which he furnished richly and then he told some of his female acquaintances that he was to be married His associates are principally American, and he seldom mingles with his countrymen in Newark

Mr Loo is a real nice little man said a young lady who was seated in the bay window of a French roof cottage in Lafayette street Newark yesterday to a reporter of the Sun and all of us girls down here had set our caps for him We liked his tea parties and his presents, but we liked his company the best He's got lots of money, and he used to spend it on the girls too Ain't it too bad that Alice Dodd cut us all out? He used to escort us to the Methodist chapel in Houston street treat to ice cream and soda and his pretty pigeon English is just too sweet for anything

Mrs Loo is about the medium height Her black hair yesterday was wound in a large coil on the back of her head where it was fastened with gold-headed pins and comb Her features are regular and her eyes large and dark blue She said to the reporter

We kept the engagement quiet because we didn't want everybody talking about it Loo's people were pleased when they heard he was to marry me He fitted the house up elegantly and he was so considerate for my religion that he did not hang any Chinese pictures or characters in any of the rooms A week ago last Thursday we were married by the Rev Mr Van Duyne a Methodist Episcopal minister who preaches in the Houston street chapel We were married at his house in Eighth avenue and my mother and sister in law were the witnesses

Mrs Loo's wedding present from her husband was [illegible] of gold jewelry with pearl ornaments As the reporter was saying good bye she remarked Some of the girls who laugh at me and affect to ridicule my marriage to Loo may get a worse husband He never swears does not drink strong liquors nor gamble, and he never cross[illegible]

MORMON SCHEMES.

Recently a staff correspondent of the New York Tribune writing from Utah gave a detailed account of the renewal by the Mormons in their present extremity of their favorite scheme of securing for Utah admission as a state. The object of course is to obtain for polygamy the protection of state authority. That gained the power of the United States would be as ineffectual against polygamy as it is unable to protect citizenship and suffrage in Yazoo. What the Mormons have to offer as the price of admission is their political support to the party that grants it. And their support might prove to be a valuable thing. In 1876 it would have decided the presidential election and perhaps it would in 1880. There would not be much reason to doubt that Utah would be a democratic state. Years ago when the republican party took its stand against slavery polygamy was denounced with it as "the twin relic of barbarism," and whether the democratic party would now be inclined to look more leniently on polygamy or not it is pretty certain that in the first place it wouldn't much object to a polygamous state if thereby it could gain the presidency and that in the second place the Mormons remembering republican hostility for twenty years past and holding the republican party accountable for the laws under which they are now being worried, as well as for the worry itself, would hardly give the electoral vote of Utah to any republican candidate.

But polygamy will not yet be invested with sovereign power. Should congress pass the bill for admission of Utah—and such bill no doubt will be offered—the veto of the president would almost certainly be interposed. As it would be sustained by the united republican vote, both because of opposition to polygamy and because republicans would be as determined in resisting a measure which would result in augmentation of democratic electoral and congressional strength as democrats possibly could be in urging it for that very reason, defeat for the present of the Mormon plan of statehood may be counted on as among the certainties.

The war upon polygamy, though beginning to be effective, is not carried on with half the energy it should be. The fault is partly in defects in the law and partly in the parsimony of congress, which has not placed at the disposal of the officials money enough to prosecute the infamy with a proper degree of energy. Nevertheless the Mormons are a good deal terrified and polygamous alliances are falling off. The Salt Lake Tribune believes that as a result of the proceedings taken by the officers of the law, as well as of the disesteem into which the impure relation is falling as Gentile influences diffuse themselves in the community, the lawless and foul practice is already pretty much divested of the sacred character to which it so long pretended. It adds: "Most of the emigrants now gathered from Europe by Mormon apostles will never enter polygamy, however much they may believe in it. They may regard marital multitudinousness as the will of the Lord, but since He has failed to provide a way to carry out his will, they cannot be blamed for disregarding it."

NEWSPAPERS AND ADVERTISING.

As a general rule the circulation and advertising patronage of a newspaper have a close relation to each other. Advertising patronage depends on circulation and on the quality of that circulation,—that is on the number of papers issued and the classes they reach. The object of advertisers is to reach purchasers. With them it is strictly a matter of business. Common as it is for a class of newspapers to make false statements as to their circulation, such statements have little or no weight with advertisers. It is not what upstart papers falsely say about their circulation that, in the long run, influences advertisers, but what their circulation actually is. This the people find out for themselves in many ways. They observe what papers are taken and read by their neighbors: they come to find out what papers contain most news and most useful and trustworthy news and are therefore most sought; they take note as they travel through the towns and country round about what journals are most commonly seen and spoken of. When on the cars they observe what journals are asked for by those who want to buy a paper for the news, and what journals the newsboys have to sell. These and other circumstances give an idea of a journal's circulation which cannot be removed or changed by any exaggerated statements made by other papers which are rarely bought and as rarely seen. It is useless, therefore, for a journal to claim a circulation which it has not. And it is useless, too, for such journal to parade itself as the "best advertising medium," when everybody knows better. Advertisers soon learn by experience. It does not take them long to find out whether their money is spent to good or bad purpose in advertising. They soon learn the difference between an advertisement inserted in one journal or another—that is, they find out quickly which of them brings trade and which does not. It is a matter in which no tricks or false statements of publishers will prevail over the experimental knowledge of advertisers. The "claims" of publishers are nothing, unless verifiable by returns to advertisers in the way of business. It is on these facts that the advertising business of this journal, and of every other journal which has a good business in this line stands. As a rule the public advertise as customers buy, that is, where they can do best or in other words, where they get the best return for their money. In this matter no doubt sometimes errors are committed, but not many by persons of good business judgment.

INTERESTING HISTORY.

"Louis Napoleon and the Southern Confederacy" is the caption of an important article in the North American Review for October. It is based mainly on an examination of the diplomatic correspondence of the confederacy with its commissioners in Europe. These papers are in the confederate archives at Washington, which were purchased by the government some four or five years ago. Of the dispatches, the writer says by far the most important are those of Mr Slidell. The story they tell of the intentions and intrigues of Louis Napoleon not only exposes the duplicity of that remarkable personage in his American diplomacy but throws interesting side-lights upon the policy of the English cabinet towards this country. And they prove that the French government was far less friendly to the United States than the British cabinet. Every facility and encouragement were given by the French authorities, under direction of the emperor himself, for building and equipping confederate privateers in the ports of France. It is said to have been due entirely to the vigilance of Mr. Dayton, the United States minister at Paris, and to a happy accident that such plans miscarried. The dispatches prove besides, that the French emperor made repeated efforts to induce the British cabinet to act with him in declaring the blockade of the ports of the rebellious states insufficient and even to obtain the concurrence of Great Britain in recognizing the independence of the southern confederacy. He even held out hopes to the confederate commissioners of armed intervention.

It was a favorite scheme of the imperial mountebank to restore to France her long lost American empire. He conceived that the break-up of the Union by the civil war in the United States afforded him an opportunity for obtaining a foothold on this continent. Under this view the Mexican expedition was undertaken. He appears even to have gone so far as to think of [illegible] Texas looking to the establishment of a great state between the confederacy and Mexico—a scheme which seems to have given the confederate government some concern. It was [illegible] conviction often expressed that his [illegible] was hopeless. [illegible] resolved [illegible] was [illegible] greater [illegible] understood that the southern confederacy would soon be recognized. The first event that occurred to give the emperor pause was the fall of New Orleans. This was followed by heavy reverses in Tennessee. It appears from the Slidell dispatches that Napoleon was just ready for immediate action, that is to take the initiative by a declaration not to respect the blockade when an event which he did not anticipate occurred. The fall of New Orleans was a catastrophe whose disastrous effect upon the projects of the French emperor is acknowledged fully in the Slidell dispatches. After this the emperor from that time proceeded more cautiously. Yet in his characteristic way he made open professions of good will to the United States government while secretly urging the British cabinet by every unofficial means in his power to join him in recognizing the south. Again however some time later Slidell was led to entertain strong hopes of intervention but again at the critical time the announcement of the defeat at Gettysburg and the overwhelming loss of Vicksburg came to prevent the action which was so much desired. After that there was small reason to hope for intervention by foreign powers. The fall of Richmond completed Louis Napoleon's humiliation and left him no choice but to get out of Mexico and give up his dream of empire in America.

Though the British cabinet neglected to detain the Alabama and other privateers yet the Review writer thinks that on the whole apart from this neglect the action of the British government was not unfair towards the United States. He says "Whatever may be said about the hostility shown toward the United States by the people of England during the war it is time that intelligent men should at least give credit to the ministry which guided Great Britain in those troubled years for its caution, honesty and comparatively fair neutrality in the face of Louis Napoleon's intrigues."

Lucius Robinson, Tilden's candidate for the governorship of New York was an old democrat who in 1856 abandoned his party and joined the republicans. About 1870 he went back to the democratic party. The Tilden organs are now denouncing as "bolters" the democrats led by John Kelly who refuse to support him, and the Kelly organs retaliate by publishing an address prepared and signed by Lucius Robinson and Noah Davis in 1856 and adopted by a convention called for the purpose of repudiating the democratic nominations then made. The address began with the statement that "the time had come for democrats to declare their independence of those packed conventions which have assumed to dictate the measures and candidates of the democracy." Mr Buchanan's nomination for the presidency was also repudiated and democrats were called on to vote for Fremont. It was this bolt that took New York away from Buchanan and beat the democratic party in the state from top to bottom of the ticket. Tammany now insists on giving Robinson some of his own medicine alleging as he did in 1856 that the time has again come round for democrats to declare their independence of those packed conventions which have assumed to dictate the measures and candidates of the democracy.

Ordinarily it might be supposed that when an individual had accepted a position on a committee to make arrangements for welcoming and receiving a distinguished person to whom the world has been doing honor such individual would at least have the decency to refrain from uttering coarse and abusive language concerning such person especially when there was not the slightest excuse or provocation for it. To speak plainly if Gen Grant is the "rude boor, insolent shoddyite," and "pet of monopolies, with the imperious manner of an upstart," and all that kind of thing, as asserted by the local organ of Bourbonism yesterday, he is not a man whom the people of Portland should receive with demonstrations of respect. But if, on the other hand, the editor of said organ has uttered coarse slanders characteristic of him, he should be assigned a place in public estimation with the blackguard of San Francisco even if he is a member of the committee to make arrangements for reception of the distinguished citizen so vilified and defamed.

The Philadelphia manufacturers of quinine as well as extreme protectionists generally are again unhappy. Their predictions that the price of quinine would advance if the tax thereon was repealed refuses to be verified. When the tax was repealed in July the wholesale price was $3 43 per ounce; it then advanced to $3 55; subsequently it fell off again and at last quotations the wholesale price in Chicago was down to $3 per ounce. The tax repealed was twenty per cent; the reduction in price since July has been a fraction over sixteen per cent, and "protection" has nearly been overcome.

The Railway World publishes the statement that on the Northern Pacific extension west of Bismarck work is progressing at the rate of a mile a day, and the iron will soon be laid down for one hundred miles—the distance that was contemplated in the original contract. But the gratifying announcement is made that the graders are going right along toward the Yellowstone and work will be prosecuted without interruption except from the elements until the iron is stretched for two hundred miles from Bismarck to the Yellowstone.

Republicans will not fully control the legislature of California. They have the senate by a small majority and will organize and control that body. But the condition of the house, as the Bulletin reports it, is somewhat different. A majority of straight republicans have not been elected to it. Some republicans have however been elected as honorable bilks and some as workingmen and they may gravitate toward the more powerful and permanent organization.

Statistics for the Central Pacific railroad presented in the recent report of the president of the company show that the company's assets amount to $[illegible] against a stated indebtedness of $[illegible]. The sum total of assets makes the average value for road and equipment including depots lands and all forms of property $110 314 per mile.

The meaning of the denial of the motion for a bill of particulars made by Tilden's attorney in the income tax suit is that Slippery Samuel shall not be allowed to shirk the [illegible].

NEW TO-DAY.

None Genuine without a Facsimile of this Stamp on Each Boot.

In this boot the counter is covered by a piece of leather extending from under the sole to some three inches above the upper edge of the counter, or in other words the counter is between the leather of the boot and the protector and is not exposed either on the outside or the inside of the boot; consequently the heel does not touch it at all, thus one of the greatest objections to boots—the trouble of getting the heel over the counter or stiffening—is removed. This is an object of great importance to the consumer both in economy and comfort. On this point we need only appeal to the thousands who wear boots.

HERCULES

HERCULES

Another advantage gained by this arrangement is that the same piece of leather that covers and protects the counter also extends beyond the side seams covering those seams, thereby greatly increasing their strength. Again in the old style boot the leg is liable to sag or fall around the ankle, but in The Hercules Boot this is rendered less liable by the counter protector as it doubles the leather at the point where the sagging usually takes place.

HERCULES

HERCULES

All boots—men's, boys' and youths'—may be manufactured with this improvement, though it is most desirable in heavy boots where great strength is required.

We have secured the Sole Right to Manufacture this Boot for the Pacific Coast.

We also keep a full stock of

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 1, 1879.

THE OREGONIAN office can be spoken to at any hour during the day and until 2 A. M. from any point in the city where there is a telephone. We will take it as a favor if persons having access to telephones will communicate to THE OREGONIAN any items of news which may come to their knowledge.

CITY.

YESTERDAY MORNING'S BLAZE.—A few minutes after 8 o'clock yesterday morning flames and smoke were observed to issue from the barn belonging to Police Commissioner R. E. Riley, located at the corner of Third and Salmon streets. The alarm was first sent from the residence of Dr. C. C. Strong, situated across the street, through one of the A. T. & D. Co's telephones to the central office and from there communicated to the fire department. An alarm was sounded at once, and the various companies responded with alacrity. The barn stood in close proximity to the residence of Mr. Riley, and before the engines reached the scene, the fire communicated to the kitchen. When first discovered the blaze was small, but the fire spread with astonishing rapidity, and by the time water could be got through the hose the barn and kitchen were enveloped. Several heavy streams of water quickly subdued the fierceness of the flames, and in less than 30 minutes the fire was extinguished. The barn is a total wreck and the kitchen and a portion of the dwelling are badly damaged. The furniture is also damaged by water and removal. The loss will probably reach $800. Mr. Riley was insured in the Union and Home Mutual, $500 each, of which $500 was on the furniture. The fire originated in the barn and was either caused by an incendiary or the carelessness of a passing tramp, who may have slept there during the night and left the burning ashes of his pipe to smoulder among the dry hay in the loft. The origin is merely a matter of conjecture.

THE POLITICS OF OREGON.—Among the toasts present at the banquet tendered John Russell Young, the correspondent of the New York Herald, at the Palace hotel by the members of the press of San Francisco, on the evening of Sept. 25th, we observe the name of ex-Gov. Geo. L. Woods. A number of toasts were proposed and responded to by gentlemen present. "The Politics of Oregon" was proposed among other toasts, and Gov. Woods was called upon to respond, which he did substantially as follows: "Christianity, the school house and press constituted the trinity of civilization. The American press was the palladium of the great American ... and journalists should use their power ... and in the interest of free speech, free ... and purity of the ballot. They should ... the public morals, and make all, ..."

Instrumental and vocal music was ... in abundance, and an elegant repast ..., which came in as a delightful ... to the preceding exercises. ... FAMILY.—We have received a copy of The New Era, published at ..., Pennsylvania, which makes very ... and complimentary mention of a ... given at Fulton Hall, in that ... on the evening of Sept. 11th by the McGibeny family, so well known in Portland ... this state. The many friends of the McGibeney will be gratified to ... they are meeting with public favor ... wherever they give performances.

THE STEAMER "ST. PAUL."—The San Francisco ... of the 27th says: "The steamer ... has been tendered to General Grant ... to Portland. She is to be got in ... readiness, and will be shipped ... about October 7th, at which time it is ... the general will be ready to make ... He could not have a finer little ... and we are satisfied she will make ... up."

... SOCIETY.—This society will meet ... evening. There was a large crowd present at the last meeting. A rare programme ... arranged. This society is meriting ... which continues to follow it. It ... organized about four years, and is ... only society of the kind in this city. It ... to introduce some new features this ... and there will be an increased attendance.

FROM ASTORIA.—The following specials to the Merchants' Exchange were received yesterday from Astoria: 11:20 A. M.—Cloudy ... ; British ship Isle of Bute arrived at 11 A. M. 2 P. ... NIGHT SCHOOL.—A night school will be opened at seven o'clock under the auspices of the Portland Seaman's Friend Society, ... Third and D streets. Mr. P. D. Kennedy has been engaged as principal. All who desire to improve their evenings are invited to attend the school. Application can be made to Chaplain Stubbs at the Bethel during the day.

HELD TO ANSWER.—The poker sharps, C. W. Moore, C. R. Reed, L. M. Rodgers and A. Martin, were on trial yesterday afternoon before Judge Stearns, accused of robbing Alf. ... They were bound over in $1000 each to appear at the next term of the state circuit court. In default the prisoners were committed to the county jail.

THE JURY COMMISSIONERS.—W. S. Ladd and Capt. E. H. Lamson, United States jury commissioners for this district, may not go further than the Dalles as they expect to select almost enough jurors this side of the mountains. Multnomah and Clackamas yet remain from which to choose the desired number.

AWARDED THE CONTRACT.—The Willamette Iron Works have received the contract from the Alaska Gold and Silver Mining Company for the construction of a steam engine and boiler for the company mill near Sitka. It is to be completed in time for shipment by the next steamer.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—The Congregational ladies meet in their new parlors this afternoon for the reorganization of their Ladies' Society and the election of officers. All the ladies of the church and congregation are requested to be present promptly at 2 o'clock.

BOUND OVER.—Yesterday afternoon three Chinamen, charged with running a lottery, appeared in police court for a preliminary hearing. They waived an examination and were held to await the action of the grand jury each in the sum of $200.

BRIEF NOTES.

Collection day.

Another blaze to report.

Steamer Elder off this morning.

Umbrella and overcoat weather.

Steamer Oregon due at Astoria to-day.

Free postal delivery will commence to-day.

The weather is almost cool enough for December.

New dramatic season will open here on the 13th inst.

Farmers will soon be busy ploughing for the fall crop.

The free postal delivery will be a great public convenience.

State fair opens to-day, J. Pluvius to the contrary notwithstanding.

The sewers find as much as they can do to take care of the surplus water.

Sociable last evening at the Plymouth Church. It was a pleasant affair.

A large quantity of railroad material and two locomotives arrived here on the Elder.

When will Gen. Grant sail for Portland, is the most important conundrum of the hour.

Preparations are now making for an elegant bazaar and fair to be held in a few weeks here.

Chas. H. Beach, of Althouse, Oregon, has been granted a patent for soles on rubber boots.

The T. Misplie mentioned in the police reports yesterday is not Mr. P. Misplie, of The Dalles.

Thistles are spreading over the city. There are large tracts of them in North Portland. They will cause trouble ere long if not eradicated.

Five cars loaded with railroad iron went up on the westside yesterday. It took two locomotives to pull them up the Fourth street grade.

An appropriate Webfoot refrain:

> Every tinkle on the shingle
> Has an echo in the heart,
> And a thousand dreamy fancies
> Into busy being start.
> 'Tis a joy to press the pillow
> Of a cottage chamber bed,
> And listen to the patter
> Of the soft rain overhead.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. N. D. Pendleton, of Portland, passed Carlin bound west on the 24th.

Mrs. B. Hartman and Geo. Beiler of Portland, were registered at the Baldwin Hotel Sept. 27th.

Hon. H. G. Struve, of Olympia, is in the city. He will remove to Seattle about the 1st proximo.

Mr. F. Norton, of the Norton House, had a severe relapse a few days ago. His condition has been considered dangerous, but last evening he was resting a little easier.

On the 25th inst., N. J. Hamilton, of Oregon, was registered at the Brooklyn hotel, San Francisco. On the same date, B. Williams and H. H. Betterson of Baker City, and Mrs. Hevener and family of Portland, were registered at the Russ House.

Capt. E. C. Merriman, who for the past three years has most efficiently and satisfactorily filled the position of lighthouse inspector of the thirteenth district, will take his departure on the Elder, bound for the east. He will proceed overland at once from San Francisco to Geneva, New York, and join his family who went east last June. Capt. Merriman received orders several months ago to proceed to his home about the last of September and await orders. It is quite probable that Captain Merriman will be re-assigned to the district in response to a petition very numerously signed by the prominent citizens of this state, addressed to the department. The matter is under consideration by the department at Washington, and the result will not be known for some time. Capt. Merriman's re-assignment to this district would meet with very general public approbation; and the commercial interests of this part of the coast will find in that officer a faithful representative.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There have been a good many instances brought to light lately of cruelty to animals in our city. Several teams have balked while coming up steep grades about the city, and often have been cruelly whipped by the drivers. On one occasion the driver beat his horses with a board, inflicting severe injuries. This should be stopped. The society for the prevention of cruelty to animals should attend to these matters. A driver of a dump cart in the north end of the city is working a poor, jaded horse daily, that can hardly stand. It sometimes falls down when overburdened and then the driver beats it with clubs in a shameful manner. The neighbors have noticed this thing and complain of it. MERCY.

POSTAL POINTS.

COMPLETE LIST OF LETTER BOXES—PERSONALS, ETC.

This forenoon those who have taken the ... to instruct their correspondents to direct letters to the street and number, through the kindness of the United States government and the exertions of Postmaster ..., can sit under the shade of their own vines and fig trees and receive from the hands of Uncle Sam's minions messages of business, of friendship or confidence and of love. If they care to answer missives without delay writers have only to carry letters a very short distance to the nearest box, whence the messengers will carry them safely to the postoffice.

The free delivery system marks an epoch in the history of Portland which has now taken a place side by side with cities of older growth and more favorable location. Is it not within reason to predict that with the certain promise of a transcontinental railroad, Portland, with her enterprise, and Oregon with her unbounded resources, will show the greatest increase as a city and as a state when the census of 1880 shall have been taken?

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES.

Mr. Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox, government revenue officer at Cincinnati, Ohio, says in his report, that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few, if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines, that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary, to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties, addressed to Wm. Scheffler, or Geo. H. Beach, St. Helena, Napa county, Cal., will receive prompt attention.

For Dyspepsia, Damiana Bitters. Fleckenstein & Mayer are sole agents.

EIGHTY-EIGHT.—At that number First street you will now find Tom O'Brien.

For good cigars, retail or wholesale, go to T. D. Marks & Co., First and Washington sts.

For the Kidney and Bladder, Damiana Bitters. Fleckenstein & Mayer are sole agents.

As a tonic, and for all nervous complaints, Simmonds' "Nabob" Whisky is unequaled. To be had at all druggists and grocers.

We noticed that Jackson, 53 First street, has opened his new brand, the St. George cigar. They are fine, as are also the St. Denis and St. Andrew. Try them as you go to the cars.

Just arrived. A large stock of health, misses' and other corsets, and children's waists, also a fine assortment of ladies' underwear, jewelry, etc., at Mrs. J. M. DuBois & Co.'s, 165 Third street, near Morrison.

The Steinway is the Universal Piano of the World!" "The only Piano fully recommended to Purchasers by the highest authorities of America and Europe." Catalogues sent free. Address Albert Bartsch, 209 Third street, general agent, Portland, Oregon.

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL.—In view of the frequent applications that have been made for the admission of patients to this institution, it has been decided to open it for such a limited number as can be cared for by a small corps of attendants and nurses. Address applications to the superintendent at the hospital.

Read and Learn for Yourself.

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world, because of the immense expense in making them known to the people. This is not the case with BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. Although but a few years introduced into this country, its sale now reaches in every town and village in the United States. Its wonderful success in curing consumption, severe Coughs, Pneumonia, Asthma and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted, free of charge, by druggists. No such a test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your druggist and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.

GENERAL INVITATION.

As it is impracticable to give a personal invitation to every one, we have adopted this mode of extending a cordial invitation to all of our fellow-citizens of this city and state and the territory of Washington to participate in the reception and welcome to be given to General U. S. Grant upon his arrival in Portland on or about the 12th of October next.

We would especially call upon all organized companies and associations, military and civil, to turn out in uniform, with their flags and banners, and take part in the procession. All organizations accepting this invitation will please notify, without delay, the grand marshal, Gen. John McCraken, in order that proper positions in the line may be assigned them.

It is understood that this is not a political demonstration, but an expression that the eminent services this distinguished American citizen has rendered to his country are fully appreciated by the people of Oregon.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING [illegible]

FROM OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA.

Letter from Calvin B. MacDonald

PERSONAL ACKNOWLEDGMENT TO THE [illegible]—ALL IS WELL THAT ENDS WELL—TEMPERANCE AFFAIRS—OAKLAND [illegible]—CHARACTERISTIC [illegible]

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Through the kindness of the Rev. W. Chattin I have received two copies of The Oregonian of the 5th and [illegible] respectively, the first containing a [illegible] eral obituary of myself, and the other an elaborate contradiction of the misstatement report of my death, both conceived in the kindest spirit and expressed in the friendliest terms. The main purpose of this letter is to becomingly acknowledge the inimitable courtesy and justice of The Oregonian, and to assure all whom it may concern that the gentlemen of that paper have been in no degree accountable for the distress and mortification occasioned by a false report. On the contrary, they have acted the part of honorable and liberal journalists both in relation to a person supposed to have gone from the world and in afterwards rectifying the error so elaborately and kindly.

When the report first reached Oakland a portion of the article having been copied into the Bulletin, it was directly supplemented by letters from Oregon to my friends here bewailing my miserable end in having "died in a debauch." I could not obtain a copy of The Oregonian of that date and was given to understand that the distressing calumny had appeared in that widespread and influential paper. Of course such a supposed calamity was heart-crushing to an invalid and was believed to be ruinous by my friends. Nor was my apprehension of grief and resentment relieved until Mr. Scott, the editor, was informed of my distress and sent me a copy of the article through that kind-hearted philanthropist, the Rev. W. Chattin. Having been so lately before thousands of the leading people of Oregon as a temperance lecturer and believing that I had been reported as dying drunk by the leading journal of that state, the reader may conceive of my consternation and dismay. But it is all right now, thank God! and I shall never cease to be grateful for the alacrity with which the editors of The Oregonian and Statesman dispelled the overwhelming cloud of depression. Since the evil report originated in mean quarters, and was probably the work of political malice, let it go, to be deemed and forgotten. It is enough that my Oregon friends know that I have kept the faith and that I am here surrounded by other friends as good and as true and as trusting as they. Since the work of a daily journalist is usually ephemeral, it may be that when the end shall have indeed come, my appropriate epitaph shall be, "Here lies one whose name was writ in water," but perhaps some one will think to add, in friendly recollection, "and his last end was better than the first." In the [illegible] opera house, before a vast audience of people, whom I have reason to keep in loving memory while consciousness remains, I promised to devote my remaining time to the cause of temperance, whether my days shall be many or few, and that promise, God helping me, will be kept unto the end. It was not made without due deliberation, counting all the cost, and foreseeing the reward.

TEMPERANCE AFFAIRS.

It has long been my desire to meet with the temperance people of Portland, and I had hoped to have that privilege last spring, but having fallen ill of pneumonia at Walla Walla, further public speaking was impossible, and I thought best to return home and perhaps be back sometime under more favorable conditions. Intending to go east after a while, I should like above all things to have the friendly endorsement of the cultured people of Portland; and if health and other things permit, I shall probably visit your city, Astoria, Olympia and other places on the Sound, within a few weeks, and then I shall hope to have the friendly influence of The Oregonian to help the cause. Notwithstanding the [illegible] report above referred to, I have much reason to be grateful to the Oregon press. It has done enough for me, God knows. As I shall be writing for one of the leading papers of San Francisco during my next northern tour, and am preparing a sketch-book of far western scenes and adventure, it may be in my power to be of some little assistance in making known abroad the rare attractions and abounding resources of your truly great state. I want to have to say to the people of the east that, on the banks of the Willamette, on the verge of the deep, dark forest of Oregon, I met with as much of intellectual culture, as much of radiant beauty, of social refinement and moral purity, as can be found in any city of like dimensions in the whole land. And I know from observation that these elements are all there, if they shall think worth while to honor me with an appearance on that occasion.

OAKLAND EXULTANT.

Oakland is just now all in a quiver of excitement and anticipation, being about to receive General Grant with something like royal honors. Three thousand children are laden with flowers to strew before him, and over 45,000 people are all astir. The design is to outdo San Francisco in all respects possible, and the display is to be floral and elegant, rather than star-spangled bannered and noisy, in correspondence with the presumably refined tastes of the place. Wagons have been coming in from the country heaped up with flowers, many of them rare and costly exotics, and the amount of greenbacks to be wilted up to-morrow, is frightful to contemplate. Oakland is rich—immensely rich in aggregate of her people. We have many citizens worth from $500,000 to $3,000,000. They are ordinarily rather "close," but on this occasion have showed out somewhat, though the expenses of the fete will be borne mainly by people with less money and more refinement, as is usually the case. It is not worth my while to attempt any description of the splendid pageant. See Oakland papers of to-morrow, which will be apt to spread themselves. We think we have the prettiest town on this hemisphere. It is seven miles long by five wide, and is the dwelling place of untold wealth, but not much business. There is probably as much business done in Portland in one day as is achieved here in a week. Great numbers of people reside here and do business in San Francisco—or come here to roost, as they say. Trains of [illegible] dozen cars pass both ways every hour, most of the time crowded, and sometimes with as many as can wedge in and hang on. Six thousand people crossed the bay to the Grant reception the other evening, and when I returned, before the procession was half over, we had a regular scrouge to get on the cars, and after the long train had been packed and freighted with humanity, hundreds were left running about in despair. Sometimes eighteen or twenty thousand excursionists cross the bay on Sunday. Such is present life in Oakland. What will it be ten years hence, when there shall certainly be 100,000? When I went to Oregon in 1867 a shingle on a lot here announced a vacant lot "for sale—$800." When I returned a year later, the lot had been sold for $10,000, it is only half built over now, and is valued at $300,000. Thirteen years ago a lady school teacher bought a lot for $1200, built a shanty and set up with a dozen scholars. The property—not on the principal street—is now worth $100,000. Some two months ago a gentleman was thrown from his carriage and killed, when it was ascertained that his income was a thousand dollars a day. Such has been the effects of the overland railroad, mining products, and fortunate speculations in stocks, with a corresponding number of failures, heart breaks and suicides. One of our citizens is worth perhaps $5,000,000. He has built over fifty dwelling houses on his own grounds, costing from $5000 to $6000 each. And yet he is not married and is not happy! But wealth is not the standard of caste here. The presence of the State University and the great number of high class schools gives the social predominance to scholars, as in all great university places. If a man here is not worth above $100,000 it is not worth his while to put out his sign of social importance; and as many of his very rich people—accidentally enriched, perhaps—are illiterate, vulgar, and essentially mean, they are outranked socially by persons of social culture and far inferior fortune. To live in a house worth fifty or a hundred thousand dollars attracts very little attention except from wondering strangers, and after a residence of ten years I could not at this moment name the occupant of one in ten of our finest dwellings. In that respect Oakland is a very desirable place to live in; a man here is valued for his moral and intellectual worth rather than on account of his possessions, for the simple reason that rich people are very numerous, and, in many cases, vulgar, illiterate, and personally contemptible. I know one old man who is worth at least $900,000, and can't read, nobody seems to notice him on the street, and he lives the life of a well to-do brute.

IN CONCLUSION,

And not to bore your readers any more, let me repeat my thanks to the editor and proprietor of The Oregonian for their personal and professional kindness [illegible] overshadowing cloud [illegible] hoped for [illegible]

CALVIN B. MACDONALD.

OAKLAND, Sept. [illegible]

STRANGE CASE OF SUICIDE

[illegible]

[illegible] She assented quietly and was shown to an apartment. Yesterday morning came and [illegible] the pretty stranger [illegible] [illegible] the door [illegible] the key and turned the lock. Piled [illegible] the chairs were the various articles of feminine apparel of fine quality and on the bed lay an exquisitely molded form, motionless as marble save at intervals when the heavy respiration betrayed the morphine poisoning. Doctors were hastily summoned but the drug had done its work. The dying girl was taken away to the hospital where the king of terrors claimed her last evening. Her effects were searched for the means of identification but there was nothing to show her name or whence she came. Even the vial which contained the morphine had been defaced of its label and hidden between the transom so thorough was the intention to conceal everything. The theory which naturally suggested itself was that the poor girl belonging to some country town had sought the city to hide her sin or its consequences and had adopted this method to get out of trouble and the world. To day the body reposed on a slab in the morgue but of the hundreds who came and went none could recall the features with their halo of auburn. The coroner, with his scalpel, grasped at the mystery, and when all the physical secrets had been made plain the mystery was greater than ever. The girl was as innocent and pure as when she had been born. Late this evening the attempt to solve the problem had been given up. Photographs had been taken and the order had been given for the interment of the body in the potters field to-morrow. All day long a man of awkward appearance who called himself Professor Shelton, and who was by his own account an itinerant music teacher and piano tuner had been roaming through the city making semi occasional appearances at police headquarters trying to find a Miss Emma G Patterson of Bethalto Ill. His story was a strange one. Miss Patterson was a graduate of Shurtleff college and a young lady moving in the best of society in and about Alton and Bethalto. Shelton in his trips through central Illinois had tuned her piano and made her acquaintance. She lived comfortably at home, and the professor became a caller and an admirer. Some months ago she had asked him to let her wear a watch and chain he had, to a wedding in Alton. He had complied and not only this he had put in her hands for safe keeping a package containing $130 and some jewelry not caring to have so much that was valuable about him. A few days ago Shelton was at Miss Patterson's house playing the piano when he caught a glimpse of a letter addressed to the young lady, containing terms of endearment. If he had had any hopes of winning the belle of Bethalto this dispelled them. He asked for his money and trinkets. The girl made an excuse, but finally agreed to meet him at Alton, where she said she had left them and give them to him. Monday was the day this meeting should have taken place. Shelton was there, but the girl was not. He learned that she had gone to St. Louis by boat Monday morning, and down he came behind her. Up to a late hour to night his search for her had been unavailing. Some one suggested the unknown body of the morgue, and there Shelton went. The fair anonyma was none other than Miss Patterson. The watch had been found in the room at the hotel, but the money was gone. Shelton says the girl was kept under very close rein at home, and that her desires to dress well and go into company were constantly checked. Her honor was spotless. The only theory for the suicide is in [illegible] weakness. She had spent all or a portion of the money for dress or finery, and [illegible] Shelton claimed his own she planned [illegible] melancholy end as the best way out of [illegible] difficulty. Her parents who are among [illegible] most reputable people of Bethalto, were telegraphed for to-night.

The "Barrel" Sermon.

[From the Christian at Work.]

Of course there is one thing the minister can do and does—put his hand in that barrel and preach an old sermon. As a rule we don't believe in this barrel-sermon preaching. Very seldom does a minister preach an old sermon to his people the second time with anything approaching the fire and spirit of its first delivery. The freshness, the warmth, the outcome of its preparation its especial seasonableness the enthusiasm, if he had it, attendant upon handling a new theme for the first time, these are all gone at a second preaching, so he stands up and reads off his barrel-sermon, and however it may have excited interest at the time it is—unless its repetition has been specially called for—pretty apt to fall like a wet theologic blanket on the hearers. The effect of barrel sermon preaching on the minister himself is not good—certainly it is not stimulating.

And here is another view of the matter: no minister ought to give up one church and take another with the idea of using that sermon barrel. Yet just this many ministers are forced to do because of the demand made upon them by the double barrel sermon service. We never knew those ministers who moved away to another church and took up with barrel sermonizing to succeed. Certainly he is putting himself under the dominion of sloth, beside subjecting himself to the disintegrating process known as rusting out.

Old Andrew Fuller once replied to a young minister's question as to what use should be made of his old sermons. "Burn 'em, sir, burn 'em!" It wouldn't be a very great loss if most of the old sermons in the country were to be consumed by spontaneous combustion. As this is not probable anything—whatever it be—which tends to weaken the minister's dependence upon the sermon barrel can scarcely fail to be a gain to pastor and people.

Mrs. Gen. Belknap is a favorite in her travels in Europe, where her beauty attracts much attention. To a friend in Washington she writes, that she has received nothing but kindness.

REASONS WHY

SO MANY USE

ROYAL

SOAP.

1. Because only the VERY BEST materials are used in its construction.

2. Because our foreman, who personally superintends its manufacture, is the man who, for FIVE CONSECUTIVE YEARS, took the ONLY premiums awarded at the Oregon State Fair for SOAPS and LARD OIL.

4. Because it never fails to give complete satisfaction.
